Summary

I'm a passionate first-year student at Atlas Skilltech University, specializing in Digital Marketing with a particular interest in SEO and Google Ads. I'm excited to leverage my analytical skills and creative thinking to help businesses succeed in the online world, especially by boosting their social media presence.

While still acquiring the fundamentals, I'm eager to gain practical experience through projects and collaborations. My true passion lies in observing and understanding how different teams within an organization come together and function effectively.

Outside of academics, I'm an avid dancer and music lover, often expressing myself through songwriting and collaborating with various artists. My energy and enthusiasm are fueled by a good cup of coffee, making me a dedicated and collaborative individual.
